

$27,000 FOR BOOZE PERMITS GONE, HE CALLS IN POLICE

Two Prisoners Declare Revenue Agents Took Cash in Custom House.

Benjamin L. Moses, wholesale liquor dealer of Pittsburgh in the pre-Prohibition days, and prominent in his home town, the police of the West 30th Street Station say, had two men arrested yesterday because he says he gave them $27,000 to buy whiskey removal permits and they failed to obtain them and didn't return the $27,000.

The two men, who are charged with grand larceny, told Detectives Foley and Sheehan that the $27,000 was taken from them by two revenue men in the Custom House, where they had gone with Moses to buy the permits. They declined to disclose details of the alleged hold-up or how removal permits may be purchased.

They are Emmanuel Seideman, twenty-six, No. 579 Ralph Avenue, Brooklyn, and William Karshan, twenty-six, No. 110 West 48th Street. Both said they are salesmen.

Moses, who was questioned in January, 1921, in connection with New York liquor frauds, disappeared after the arrests were made and could not be found last night. He has been registered at the Hotel Pennsylvania since May 6. He told Detectives Sheehan and Foley he had been negotiating with Seideman and Karshan for some days; that yesterday they informed him "everything is jake."

"So I gave Seideman the $27,000."

he said. "I got the money from my broker at No. 60 Broad Street. The three of us went to the Custom House. Seideman told us to 'wait outside.' He went in. He was gone about fifteen minutes. He ran out then and yelled: 'Beat it! They've got me!' I told him: 'I should beat it. You've got my $27,000.' He wanted me to wait while he talked with Karshan. They entered the building and I summoned the first policeman I saw."

REFORMATORY FOR LAWYER.

Newark Man Admits Double Crime, to Obtain $100.

Benjamin W. Miller, thirty-two, a former lawyer, of No. 225 Avon Avenue, Newark, N. J., was sentenced to the Rahway Reformatory by Judge Stickel yesterday for obtaining money under false pretenses and embezzlement.

Miller admitted he passed a bogus check for $3 and also that he failed to account for $100 given to him by a client. When the charges were preferred Miller resigned as a member of the bar.
